Alexandria Gazette LITERARY REVOLUTION!

MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 28, 1880.

WHY THERE IS NO RAIN IN PERU.-IC Peru, South America, rais is unknown. The coast of Peru is within the region of perpetual southwest trade winds, and though the Peruvian shores are on the verge of the great southeast boiler, yet it never rains there. The southeast trade winds in the Atlantic ocean first strike the water on the cass of Africa. Traveling to the northese they blow obliquely across the ocean until they reach the coast of Braz I. By this time they are laden with vaper, which they continue to bear along across the continuent, doposition i as they so, superlying with it the some sof the Reo de la Plata and other tributaries of the Amazon. Finally they reach the snow-capped Audes; here s wrung from them the last partiels of moisture that a very low temperature can attract. Reaching the sum mit of that range they now tumble down as cool and dry winds on the Pacific lope beyond. Meeting with no evaporating surface, and no temperature colder than that to which they were sui j cred on the mountain tops, they reach the ocean. Thus we see how the tops of the Ardes became the reservoir from which are supplied the rivers of Chili and Peru.
